> Consideration of the Amendments to the Legislative Appropriation Bill by the House - The Indian Bureau.

SENATE. WASHINGTON, April 28 .- Legislative business was suspended at half-past twelve o'clock and the impeachment trial resumed. The pending question ments in regard thereto. Mr. Carpenter, of the counsel for the accused, then addressed the senate. He tempting to manage the case on both sides. It was not the intention of the counsel to cause any unnecessary delay, but they had prior engagements and selves for arguing the question of juris-diction. He asked that the matter be delayed for two weeks from to day, and importance demanded.

Mr. Lord opposed the request of the counsel for postponement, and asked the senate to hear testimony in regard to jurisdiction. He stated they had wit-nesses ready this morning, and asked that they have been senated. that they be heard.

After further argument Senator Conk-ling submitted an order that the senate proceed first to hear and determine the question whether W. W. Belknap, the respondent, is amenable to trial by im-peachment for acts done as secretary of war, notwithstanding his resignation of said office. The motion that testimony be heard touching the exact time of such resignation, and touching the motive and purpose of such resignation, is reserved without prejudice till the ques-tion above stated has been considered. Further discussion between the coun-el fellowed, when Mr. Carpenter said they would contend that an officer of the government had a right to resign at any moment, and the motives which govern the resignation cannot affect the matter. Mr. Lord said the evidence as to jurisliction was principally documentary, and it would not take over an hour to hear it. Senator Edmunds submitted a motion to strike out the last paragraph of the order submitted by Senator Conkling, and insert the following in lieu thereof: good name abroad and tending to pre- "And that the managers and counsel in went the accession of the capital so such argument discuss the question whether the issues of fact are material,"

Referred. Permission was given the managers of the Belknap impeachment to examine as witnesses on trial any of the members of the committee on expendi tures in the war department, or any of the members of the house whose testimony they may deem requisite. The bouse then voted on the amend-ments to the legislative appropriation bill, and all amendments on which a separate vote was not asked were agreed to in bulk. The first amendment on which vote was taken was the one offered by Mr. Hurlbut [III] increasing the compensation of Territorial judges from two thousand five hundred dollars to three thousand dollars. It was rejected by a vote of 39 yeas to 119 nays. Mr. Seelye made a point of order on section four, which transferred the In-dian bureau from the interior department to the war department. He argued that it contradicted a rule adopted on the seventeenth of January, 1876: Nor shall any provision in any such bill, or amendment thereto, changing the existing law, be in order except such as being germain to the subject-matter of the bill, shall retrench expenditures." This was a change of the existing law, and while he did not raise the point of order that it would be manifest extravagance and an increase of expenditure, although he believed it would be, he submitted it was not manifesting for the retrenchment of expenditures and not germain to the appropriation bill. A long discussion followed, in which the Republicans argued in favor of the point and the Democrats, except Mr. Cox, against it. The speaker decided against his own party friends, sustained the point of order, and ruled out the The section transferring the Indian bureau from the interior department to out of the bill, and then the bill was passed-year, 208; nays, 17. Before the speaker retired from the hall, which he soon did, he was congrat-

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH. Cincinnati Enquirer.

The life of Barney Williams; or, more properly speaking, Bernard Flaherty, presents another of those instances common to and seemingly only possible in America, of a young man, friendless and penniless, raising himself by his unaided exertions and exercise of the rights of talent from the lowest to the ighest round in the peculiar ladder of life that he chose to mount. Mr. Wiliams was born at Dublin, Ireland, in 1823, and died in the fifty-third year of his age. He was brought by his parents to this country at an early age; New York being his flist place of residence. While yet a mere boy he became attached to the supernumerary corps of the old Franklin theater, remaining there for several years, showing an antitude and industry that so pleased the manager that, in 1845, he succeeded in procuring an engagement at the old National theater in Philadelphia, making his first regular appearance as an actor on March 19th of that year, as "Mad Samson," in a patriotic drama called The Heroic Struggle of 1776. He returned to New York in the summer of that year and became manager of the once-famous Vauxhall Garden, in the Bowery. The following year he married Mrs. Clara Westmayer, an alliance that proved a lucky one for him, for from the day that made him the helpmeet of the brilliant actress can be dated his rapid rise to fame and fortune. In 1854, the pair sailed for Ban Francisco, where the lease of the Metropolitan theater proved a financial success of such magnitude that on June 7, 1855, Mr. Williams and wife undertook their European tour, opening at the Adelphi theater June 30th of that year in Rory O'More, a piece made famous by the pair. The greater part of the next four years was spent in a pro-fessional tour over the continent, at the close of which they returned to New York, commencing an engagement at Niblo's Garden, which met with such success as to stamp both as favorites of the people. Later Mr. Williams assumed the management of the Broadway theater, New York, formerly Wallack's old theater, which he retained until the spring of 1869. Since that time and up to the commencement of the illness which has robbed the stage of one of its brightest ornaments, he has, with his wife, been playing highly successful star engagements throughout this country and England. Mr. Williams has been content to produce the better class of old Irish comedy dramas. He leaves no creation, as will Jefferson Raymond and Owens, but he will always be remembered as a bright, talented and sparkling exponent of the wit, sentiment and poetry of Ireland.

THE INDIANS.

The Issuance of Supplies-All Quiet Since the Crazy-Horse Expedition.

OMAHA, April 28.—Telegrams from the Red-Cloud and Spotted-Tail agencies, vtz Fort Laramie, yesterday evening, state that no supplies worth men-tioning have been issued to the Indians at these points since the teuth instant, owing to the failure of congress to vote an appropriation and on the part of the government to forward the supplies needed, and the Indians are on the verge of starvation. The Indians would undoubtedly have left on a raid ere this had it not been for the moral effect of the late expedition against Crazy-Horse's band. There can be no ques-tion but that they will be forced to raid unless supplies are promptly ferwarded. General Crook has been, and is now, urging the necessity of keeping up the supplies and holding to the agencies hose Indians who are disposed to be friendly. It is apprehended that the hostile Indians will be largely reinforced from those now at the agencies on acount of the lack of supplies. No official information has been received of any raids since the one in which H. E. Brown was shot. Brown's body will arrive from the west, and will be buried

Black and Colored Grenadines, Silks, Dress Goods, Laces, Linen Lawns, Irish Linens, House-Furnishing Goods, Lace Curtains. Embroideries and White Goods, stock in each department which we are showing this season. The advantages of buying these goods of us must be obvious to all, as, being direct importers of them, we are enabled to offer a better class of goods for less money than any of our competitors,

IN BLACK GRENADINES We are offering special and exceptional inducements. Ladies desirous of possessing a costume which for graceful elegance, style and durability, is without a rival for spring and summer wear, can here be gratified at a very modes, outlay. Our prices will be found unprece-IN LINEN LAWNS: OF OUR OWN DIRECT IMPORTATION, we are showing an assortment which for beauty and cheapness surpasses anything hitherto shown here, while our importations of Embroidertaining to those departments are unparalleled in extent, variety and chaspness. IN STAPLE AND DOMESTIC GOODS! of all classes, we are offering decided bargains, and would council all our triends not to be eries, White Goods, Irish Linens, House-Furnishing Goods, Lage Curtains, and everything

misled by specious price lists. In those goods we cannot be undersold, and will guarantee good fresh and desirable goods at prices lower than the lowert. B. LOWENSTEIN & BROS.
